NUNS FIRST TO POWDER HAIR.

Then Custom Quickly Spread to Women of Fashion,

The custom of powdering the hair dates back as far as the sixteenth century and was first introduced by the nuns in French convents. Those who had occasion to leave the cloisters for any reason were wont to powder their hair so as to make it appear gray and give them a venerable The fashionable dames were so struck with the novel effect of kingdom of heaven." Their deve white powder on dark hair that they soon appropriated the device as one of the arts of the worldly tollet. Out of this grew the use of tints in the hair. The Roman women often used blue powder, and later, in 1860, Empress Eugenie set the fashion of using gold powder. Rome under the empire and Greece during the time of Pericles were seized with a mania for golden hair. The belles and fops of the day devised several methods whereby black locks might be changed to golden yellow, but bleaching did not always succeed. Consequently quite a trade was established with the fair-haired tribes beyond the Alps, who sold their locks to Latin merchants to be worn on the heads O'Brien: "One evening I happened of Roman dandles.

FOOD AND STUDY

A College Man's Experience.

"All through my high school course and first year in college," writes an ambitious young man, "I struggled with my studies on a diet of greasy, pasty foods, being especially fond of cakes and fried things. My system got into a state of general disorder and it was difficult for me to apply myself to school work with any degree of satisfaction. I tried different and popular Salt Lake Route. See myself to school work with any demedicines and food preparations but did not seem able to correct the dif-

"Then my attention was called to Grape-Nuts food and I sampled it. I had to do something, so I just buckled down to a rigid observance of the directions on the package, and in less than no time began to feel better. In a few weeks my strength was restored, my weight had increased, I had a clearer head and felt better in every particular. My work was simply sport to what it was formerly. "My sister's health was badly run down and she had become so nervous that she could not attend to her music. She went on Grape-Nuts and had the same remarkable experience that I had. Then my brother, Frank, who is in the postoffice department at Washington city and had been trying to do brain work or greasy foods, cakes and all that, joined the Grape-Nuts army. I showed him what it was and could do and from a brokendown condition he has developed into a hearty and efficient man. "Besides these I could give account of numbers of my feliow-students who have made visible improvement mentally and physically by the use of this food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in Roman System of Figuring.

Counting on the fingers was a regular system for the young Romans. They would make eighteen move ments with the left hand for the numbers below 100, and eighteen with the right hand for those above. Two Co., dry goods merchants, of Albert kinds of counting machines, called Lea, Minn., says: "I was so lame an abacus, were also used. One was a heard strewn with sand, on which geometrical figures were drawn. The other was a frame, with balls moved in grooves to represent figures, with a special contrivance for doing fractions. As teachers were not very patient in those days, arithmetic might be said to have been learned less by rule than by ferrule.

Not Consoling. A young man had enlisted in an teen years. Seven years after he had land wrote to him saying that if he did not send home some money at once she and the old man would have to go to the workhouse. The son wrote back saying that if she could hang on for seven years he would come home and they would all go together .-Judge's Magazine of Fun.

AWFUL PSORIASIS 35 YEARS.

Terrible Scaly Humor in Patches All Over the Body-Skin Cracked and Bleeding-Cured by Cuticura. "I was afflicted with psoriasis for thirty-five years. It was in patches all over my body. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap, six boxes of Ointment and two bottles of Resolvent. In thirty days I was completely cured, and I think permanently, as it was about five years ago. The psoriasis first made its appearance in red spots, generally forming a circle, leaving in the center a spot about the size of a silver dollar of sound flesh. In a short time the affected circle would form a heavy dry scale of a white silvery appearance and would gradually drop To remove the entire scales by bathing or using oil to soften them the flesh would be perfectly raw, and a light discharge of bloody substance would ooze out. That scaly crust would form again in twenty-four hours. It was worse on my arms and limbs, although it was in spots all over my body, also on my scalp. If I let the scales remain too long without removing by bath or otherwise. the skin would crack and bleed. I suffered intense itching, worse at nights after getting warm in bed, or blood warm by exercise, when it would be almost unbearable. W. Unidester, mutchinson, Kan, April 20, 1905."

Before the Age of Buttons. Persons who read much of historic romance cannot fail to recognize the request, "Truss my points," which has been used by every writer of English from the time of Chaucer. Perhaps everyone who read the phrase did not know that it meant, in common parlance, "lace up my clothes," but that is what it did mean, and the reason it ceased to be used in actual conversation resulted from the invention of the button and the passing away of the custom of fastening the clothes by lacing.

O'Brien,' he cried, almost in a panic, 'what did you do with the letter?' When I told him it was still in my pocket he begged of me instantly to throw it into the fire. Seeing how genuine was his concern I did so. 'Now,' said he, 'wash your hands.' This time I found it difficult to avoid smiling. He bounded from the dinner table and with his own hands emptied the water ewer into the basin on the wash hand stand. 'For God's sake, O'Brien, quick!' he cried, holding out the towel toward me, with an earnestness that set the whole company in a roar. He returned to his dinner in a state of supreme satisfaction."

CHESTNUT FLOUR OF CORSICA Much Used but Produces Inferior

Kind of Bread.

The chestnut is the wheat of Corsica, and its flour is used in the form of bread or polenta by the peasants throughout the island. The chestnuts are slowly dried over a small wood fire and stored until required for grinding. The mills are of the simplest construction, and consist of a wooden water wheel whose axis turns a millstone which crushes the shelled chestnuts against a fixed stone. The cheaper grades of flour are of a dirty color owing to the presence of particles of the shells and contain between 11 and 12 per cent of moisture. The composition of different varieties of the flour has been determined recently by M. Comte. who finds that chestnut flour closely approximates wheat flour in its food value. It contains about the same amount of starch, more fat and cellulose, but less nitrogenous substances (7 to 9 per cent, as against 12 to 16 per cent in wheat flour). Chestnut flour attracts moisture very rapidly, and therefore soon becomes mouldy unless kept in air-tight vessels. It has also the drawback of not being easily influenced by the action of yeast, and thus produces an inferior kind of bread.

ORCHARD MAKES O. C. Hayden, of O. C. Hayden &

> Admits Assassination of Ex-Governor Steunenberg of Idaho.

Implicates All Those Now Under Ar rest, and Others, Including J. L. Simpkins-Tells the Story of Twenty-six Murders as Result of Conspiracies,

Boise, Idaho.-Governor Gooding on Sunday night issued a statement with respect to the Steunenberg assassina ion case, in which he says: "I want to state officially that Harry Orchard has made a full confession as to the manner and motive of the as-sassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg, telling of the plans made and giving the names of those making

"The assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg, which occurred at his own gate on the evening of December 1905, was the third attempt that

Orchard made against his life. This confession was made to Captain James McParland. It included a history of his life from his early boyhood up to the time of his arrest. that confession Orchard implicated all those under arrest and others, including J. L. Simpkins. He told the story of twenty-six murders, the results of conspiracies in which all the accused parties were interested. When this story is given to the public, I believe it will be the greatest narrative o crime which the world knows.

There has never been any doubt as to the truth of Orchard's confession among those who are familiar with the crimes committed in Idaho and Colorado and charged to the inner circle of the Western Federation o Miners. I attribute Orchard's confession to the great brain of James Mc-Parland, who has been employed by the state to run down the murderers of ex-Governor Steunenberg. I have seen Orchard myself since this cor fession was made. He told me that no promises of clemency or reward had been held out to him by McParland or anyone else. Mr. McParland was aided in his work by Orchard's early training. In his boyhood the bible was read night and morning by his parents. The impression of the early days came up and smote his conscience when he was brought face to face with his God. He told me that he believed in a Supreme Being and a hereafter, and that now his one thought was to make his peace with his Maker.

The finding of the bomb at Judge Goddard's gate, and many other things which will later be made known at the trial, have proved the truthfulness of Orchard's confession beyond all question to those familiar with his story. The state desires to secure justice. There is no thought of punishing the innocent or waging war on any labor organization. The assassination of ex-Governor Steunen-berg, a grave crime against the state , was committed. As its executive I felt it my duty to bend every energy toward the discovery of the guilty parties and their fitting pun-

I wish to announce that I have withdrawn the offer of $5,000 reward, made by the state, for the punish-ment of the guilty parties, and have advised that the parties who had offered rewards to do likewise. They have agreed to, and today there is not a single dollar of reward offered for the conviction of the murderers of Steunenberg. A reward of $1,000 is now offered by us for information leading to the arrest of J. L. Simpkins, and this is the only reward now offered in connection with the Steunenberg assassination.

"My reason for withdrawing the reward and advising others, who had offered rewards to withdraw them, is that I felt that no detective association or anyone else is entitled to the reward offered by the state. Harry Orchard was arrested before any de-tectives were on the ground, on information secured by a committee of citizens of Caldwell, assisted by a few of us who left Boise on the special train a few minutes after the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg. We were all the friends and neighbors of the ex-governor, and I am sure their services will always be remem bered with gratitude,"

BLUEBEARD HOCH HANGED.

Man Accused of Many Murders Meets Death Bravely.

Chicago.-Johann Hoch, convicted of the murder of his wife, Marie Weicker-Hoch, was hanged in the county jail Friday, February 23, at 1:34 o'clock. Three times respited, Hoch insisted to the last that he be granted all the delay that the law coneded him. Hoch met his death bravely, and just before the execution, when asked if he had anything to say, replied:

"Father, forgive them, they know not what they do. I must die an inpecent man. Good bye."

Bluebeard Hoch's Body Rests in the Potter's Field.

Chicago.-Cemetery after cemetery was asked by telephone to permit the burial of Hoch, but all of them refused, saying that the owners of cemetery lots objected to the interment of murderers. After repeated efforts to secure a final resting place for the body of Hoch in one of the city cemeteries, the two clergymen finally de-spaired and shortly before roon the body was interred in the Potter's field, adjoining the county poor farm at Dunning.

Assassinated His Rival.

San Francisco.-Eugene Peguillian, young man barely over 20 years of age, was shot and killed Sunday in a quarrel with Benjamin Meyers, of about the same age. The two, who resided in the Pottrero district, at night agreed to settle with a fist fight a long standing quarrel over a girl of their neighborhood. The young men decided to repair to a marshy spot in South San Francisco to engage in their fight. On their way, Peguillian drew a revolver and shot his rival in the back of the head.
